

As this is a multi-author site it would be impossible for one person to ensure strict adherence to the DPA, all authors must therefore agree to work to the following principle when their account is activated, thus ensuring adherence.

'All authors are deemed to have gained permission from any living person whose personally identifiable information (date of birth, father, mother, etc) is published on this website and its subsequent worldwide distribution. In the case of a person being under 16 then a guardians consent has been attained. Information subsequently found to be unauthorised will be removed at the request of the subject concerned.'

Any professional (free) legal advice would be welcomed :o)
